About Delaware: The 1st State!

On the Eastern Seaboard of the United States, Delaware is bordered by the Atlantic Ocean and Delaware Bay, as well as by the states of New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland. A small community on the Delaware Shore, it often touts itself as "The Nation's Summer Capital," due to the fact that so many of Washington, D.C.'s residents find refuge here in the summer. Rehoboth Beach, the largest tourist destination in Delaware, is only two hours from Washington, D.C., Baltimore, MD, or Philadelphia, PA, where you can enjoy a beach resort that offers tranquility and hospitality. Rehoboth Beach is an attractive beach resort town filled with great dining, shopping, and miles of sun-drenched beaches. A bandstand in the center of town at the boardwalk is the site of regular concerts during the summer. Public transportation is great here, with buses available within Rehoboth Beach and to Ocean City daily: www.rehoboth.com/business/transportation.htm

Fact: Horseshoe crabs may be viewed in large numbers up and down the Delaware shore in May. The crabs endure extremes of temperature and salinity. They can also go for a year without eating and have remained basically the same since the days of the dinosaur.
